you go through significant change like that and you're in a position of leadership, that's your first concern, and so that was answered with flying with colors from day one and that's really all I cared about."

He added, "We know that we're going to have hard decisions to make from a roster standpoint. We know we're always going to have change, that there's always going to be hard times, there's always going to be great times. But you get through those things together, and I feel very sure that we're all together."

Stevens' presidential partner on the business side, Gotham, could sense the togetherness the previous morning when Chisholm joined Grousbeck, Celtics front office brass, and the Bill Russell family to celebrate the completion of the William Felton "Bill" Russell Bridge, just up the road from TD Garden.

"You'd just have to be at the Bill Russell Bridge ceremony yesterday to see what the Celtics mean to Boston," Gotham said. "Wyc and his partners have done an amazing job restoring the Celtics to their rightful place in the NBA, but mostly for the fans. The last thing any of us would want is for someone to come in and snuff that out. When I met Bill, I said this is the guy. Like, he feels it. He gets it."

Chisholm gets what it means to be a Celtic. He understands the importance of carrying on the team's winning tradition. And he intends to keep the status quo.

He said so himself, more than once at his introductory presser:

"I will do whatever it takes."

TD GARDEN

TD Garden, owned and operated by Delaware North, first opened its doors to the public on September 30, 1995. Located in the heart of the City of Boston and convenient by public transportation, TD Garden is an attractive destination for locals and Boston visitors alike.

In the 20 plus years since its opening, New England's premiere sports and entertainment arena hosts approximately 3.5 million people and 200 events annually. It is the proud home of the NHL's Boston Bruins, an original six franchise, and the NBA's storied Boston Celtics. Thanks to these high-profile tenants, TD Garden's rafters house more championship banners than any other professional sports arena in the country.

In addition to world-renowned concerts, sporting events, family shows, wrestling, and ice shows, the arena has played host to countless marquee events, including the Democratic National Convention, NHL All-Star Game, NCAA Frozen Fours, NCAA Women's Final Four, U.S. Gymnastics Olympic Trials, U.S. Figure Skating Championships and ISU World Figure Skating Championships, among others. TD Garden is proud to continue to attract these types of high caliber events to Boston and, in turn, generate more than $365 million in direct economic impact to the Greater Boston region over the last 20 years.

TD Garden's parent company, Delaware North, continues to be committed to reinvesting in TD Garden and making the arena the high watermark for best in class arenas in both experience and service. In 2018, Charlie Jacobs, CEO of Delaware North's Boston Holdings, along with TD Garden president Amy Latimer, announced a massive expansion of the 23-year-old arena taking place over the next two years. The $100 million private investment will provide a combined 50,000 square feet of additional space on all levels of the building and marks the 'Legendary Transformation' of TD Garden and the fan experience for generations to come.

Along with the addition of new space, comes the opportunity to introduce a new brand and a redefinition of The Premium Club, now known as 'Boston Garden Society' – Boston's newest oldest sports and social club. Boston Garden Society is a commitment to a new tradition of sports and entertainment for the Boston business community and beyond, coming in the form of transformed spaces as well as upgraded amenities and experiences over the next few years.

Extending the guest experience beyond the four walls of TD Garden is paramount to it its leadership, which is why Delaware North and Boston Properties broke ground on a joint venture project called The Hub on Causeway in 2016. The Hub on Causeway a 1.5 million square foot mixed-use project that is being constructed on the 2.5-acre site of the original Boston Garden. This transit-oriented development, featuring retail, office space, hotel, and residential building, is a significant investment that will bring substantial improvements to North Station, create major economic impact for the area and strengthen the viability of this important district in the City of Boston.

TD Garden's all-new, state of the art digital marquee on the exterior of the arena solidifies its place as the 'gateway' to the City. The digital marquee is a 3,000 square foot LED screen that is integrated with the arena's pre-existing exterior lighting elements and providing the public with real time game updates, upcoming event notifications, and amplifies community initiatives that are supported by Garden Neighborhood Charities, TD Garden's philanthropic arm.

Delaware North, owner and operator of TD Garden, is one of the largest privately-held hospitality and food service companies in the world. Founded in 1915 and owned by the Jacobs family for more than 100 years, Delaware North has global operations at high-profile places such as sports and entertainment venues, national and state parks, destination resorts and restaurants, airports, and regional casinos.

ChildFund®

The promise inside Hazel is greater than the poverty around her.

Hazel doesn't know what she wants to be when she grows up, and that's just fine. At age 11, her job is to play, grow and learn. But for kids like her in the world's poorest places, poverty gets in the way.

ChildFund works in 24 countries to make sure children grow up healthy, educated, self-sufficient and safe, wherever they were born.

Thanks to generous supporters, our programs help children fulfill their potential. That's been our promise to them for 80-plus years.
